Death of Paul Neumann.

After a brief illness Paul Neumann died this morning at his residence on King Street from paralysis.

Paul Neumann lived sixty-two years. Born in 1839, in Prussia, he was attracted to the United States at the early age of fifteen, locating in California, where he subsequently became a naturalized American citizen. Like all early pioneers to that State, Mr. Neumann passed through many hardships and vicissitudes, but a sound constitution and a determined will made each obstacle appear to him as simply a something to be overcome. Having gone through the usual studies, he was admitted to the practice of law in the year 1864, since which time he had followed that profession. Though many opportunities offered, the only offices he ever sought in California were those of Member of Congress and State Senator. He served in the latter post three terms. In 1888 Mr. Neumann decided to make Hawaii his future home, arriving at the close of that year and immediately resuming practice. Mr. Neumann held the portfolio of Attorney General under King Kalakaua, retaining the same office for a while under Queen Liliuokalani, and in 1893 represented the latter at Washington when the first annexation treaty was before the United States Senate. He was also a Noble and received a decoration of the Order of Kalakaua. In 1884 he went to Mexico as envoy extraordinary. In 1890 at the request of the Hawaiian Government and the Planters' Association, Mr. Neumann went to Japan in connection with the labor convention between Japan and Hawaii. At a later period President Dole and the Hawaiian Executive Council instructed him to proceed to Central America as an envoy extraordinary. Mr. Neumann was married in 1875 to Elise Dinklage of Mexico, and had a family of four daughters and two sons, all of whom, with the exception of one daughter, married to Mr. Herman Focke of Honolulu and one married to W. F. C. Hasson, and a son in the Naval Academy, reside abroad.

The funeral takes place from the Masonic Temple at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

A Maritime Tragedy.

The High Sheriff yesterday received the following report from Captain M. Napala of the steamer Mokoli:

Sailed from Honolulu on Tuesday, June 25, bound for ports on Maui; on Wednesday, June 26, noticing the schooner Golden Gate ashore near Maunalei, went to her assistance.

At about 2 o'clock on the same day the boat of the schooner Golden Gate got adrift and one of my crew named Moses Anakalea, swam after it. When he had nearly reached the boat he landed on a coral rock, and was wading on the same, the water up to about his breast. He suddenly threw up his hands and disappeared. I immediately took a boat's crew and went to the place where he was last seen, but could find no trace of him.

It is my opinion that he was taken by a shark, from the fact that, though the water was shallow all about the place where he was last seen, there were crevices with deep water all through the immediate neighborhood. He was a strong swimmer and he could not have fallen into one of these cracks and been drowned.
